PEIPING, Nov. 19.—A Pro-Japanese "autonomous" state of five provinces of North China must be established by noon tomorrow (11:00 p. m. Tuesday E. S. T.) or else thousands of Japanese troops now massed just outside the great wall will march southward and occupy all of North China. Major Kenji Doihara ruled in a sensational ultimatum today.

Major Doihara is in charge of a special Japanese army mission to carry out Japanese aims in North China. His word is regarded as law in these matters as far as the Japanese Kwantung (continental) army is concerned.

According to the terms of the ultimatum, unless the 100,000,000 Chinese of the Provinces of Chahar, Suiyuan, Hopei, Shantung, and (Continued on Page Two)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—A vigorous denial of waste and extravagance in administration of WPA projects was voiced today by Administrator Harry L. Hopkins in an address before the third annual U.S. Conference of mayors.

Hopkins roundly flayed critics of the program, contending that they sought to discredit it through "wilful maliceousness" and knowing misrepresentations.

"There are those who would pick out of the more than 100,000 projects which have been approved small individual projects which seem to them absurd and wasteful," he told the mayors.

Three Hundred Gather For Buckwheat Rodeo At New Wilmington

Standing before a "buckwheat rodeo" audience of 306 Rotarians and their guests from New Wilmington and 18 other cities in New Wilmington last night, Dr. Arthur E. Bestor, scholarly president of the world-famed Chautauqua Institution of Chautauqua, N. Y., turned the spotlight upon five vital challenges of self-government and at the close posed a question which strikes deep into the heart of every American.

"Ahe we," he asked, "to strengthen democracy or are we to surrender to dictatorship, and are we to have regimentation of thought and action or individual initiative and freedom?"

Listening as the eloquent Chautauqua head spoke was the largest crowd ever to assemble for one of the famed buckwheat dinners of the New Wilmington club, a hungry crowd which, in only a few hours' time, consumed something like 35 gallons of buckwheat cake batter, 18 pounds of sausage, 15 pounds of coffee, 10 gallons of syrup, 70 pies and more besides.

Held in the dining hall of the United Presbyterian church of the college town, the dinner, an event always long anticipated, attracted Rotarians from almost a score of the clubs of the 33rd district and brought public officials from many points.

Bitter Protests On Trade Pact With Canada

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—With the administration today turning its attention toward the conclusion of another reciprocal trade treaty with the Netherlands, three industries voiced their bitter opposition to the trade treaty concluded with Canada.

Leaders of the lumber, cattle, and whiskey interests were quick to denounce the treaty lowering of American tariffs on these commodities.

The most bitter opposition came from the National Lumber Manufacturers Association whose members suffered an almost complete 50 percent cut in their tariff protection on western products.

The association called the pact "paralyzing to the general economy of certain parts of the country" and termed the 250,000,000 board feet limitation on hemlock and douglas fir as "meaningless."

Scores Of Trucks Lined Up For Inspection Here This Morning

It isn't "how's trucks today." The question is "how's trucks?"

Any kind of trucks. Coal trucks, ash trucks, lumber trucks and grocery trucks, ice trucks and vegetable trucks, closed trucks and open trucks. Wooden sided and steel sided trucks, dump trucks and straight trucks, but why go on?

The thing under discussion is trucks. Today was the day for hiring about 75 trucks for the transportation of WPA workers to highway projects and the trucks were all gathered on the Carnegie grounds on South Mill street.

J. F. La Rue, of Harrisburg, was present to select the trucks, inspect them as to sea worthiness, ascertain the weight and capacity and several other items of importance.

The truckers were signed up in the office of the WPA on South Mill street and several of the WPA staff were utilized in getting them on the dotted line.

It is hoped that they can be started out on Wednesday hauling the workers. The truckers will be paid an hourly rate for eight hours (Continued on Page Two)

Dr. C. B. Wingerd, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, will deliver the sermon at the annual union Thanksgiving Day service which is to take place in the First Presbyterian church, corner of Jefferson and Falls street.

The service will open at 10 a. m. on Thanksgiving Day, according to plans outlined by a special committee of the New Castle Ministerial Association, Monday.

Congregations of all downtown and north hill churches will join. The churches of the East Side, South Side and Mahonington are arranging for union Wednesday evening Thanksgiving services.

Patrick Thornton of 433 East Boyles avenue, received a message this morning notifying him that his brother, Thomas Thornton, of Erie had been killed in an automobile accident. The telegram did not state how the accident occurred. Mr. Thornton, who was around 58 years of age, has been a resident of Erie for many years. He was connected with the Erie Forge works.

He was born in Wheeling, W. Va. in 1853. In 1875 he moved to Steubenville, O. and was married in 1879. In 1894 he came to New Castle and lived for ten years, returning to Wheeling in 1904. He again returned to New Castle and in 1911 opened a restaurant on South Mill St. About the time of the war he went to work in the steel mill where he stayed for ten years. For a number of years he has been retired and with his son lives at 932 Maryland avenue.

Mr. Elliott is 81 years of age and has brothers and sisters whose total ages with his number 396. The oldest brother in the family is Albert R. Elliott of Rayland, O. Albert is 88 and rugged in health. Henry B. Elliott, who lives near Wheling is 79 and is working on a farm. Mrs. Sallie P. Hart, 76, lives in Warwood, near Wheeling, W. Va., as does the baby of the family, Edward Elliott, who is just 72.

Italy Formulating Plans For Reprisals On League Sanctions

By HUDSON HAWLEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME, Nov. 19.—Climaxing a three-hour meeting of the Fascist grand council to formulate Italy's campaign of reprisals against sanctions, Premier Mussolini today demanded use of the nation's armed strength to resist the international boycott if necessary, while other quarters warned the United States against withholding essential supplies from Italy.

An assertion that Italy will boycott American-made goods unless the United States excludes oil and vital supplies from its embargo list under the neutrality act was voiced by an authoritative source.

This warning, coming as Italy formally opened her counter-offensive against League of Nations sanctions, was directly opposed to the recent statement of Secretary of State Cordell Hull that shipments of "essential war materials" to Italy was contrary to the policy of the American government.

AS MARA, Nov. 19.—Hard on the heels of a ferocious and successful Italian airplane attack led by Premier Mussolini's "flying family," an Ethiopian column of warriors advanced today toward Scelio with the intention of attacking Italian forces along the Dolo-Makale front, according to Italian sources.

The Ethiopian advance followed by only a few hours a bitter engagement, termed the most serious of the war thus far, in which Count Galeazzo Ciano, Mussolini's son-in-law, and II Duke's two sons, Bruno and Vittorio, led 20 bombing planes against a huge concentration of Ethiopian warriors, who were routed in disorder with many casualties.

Believe 1000 Killed
Count Ciano estimated "probably 2,000 Ethiopians were slain in the bitter battle, while headquarters announced three members of Count Ciano's "La Disperata" squadron were wounded."

The battle occurred near Buia, on the road south of Makale, where 15,000 Ethiopians were located by the Italian planes.

The conflict was without a doubt the fiercest aerial slaughter yet carried out by the Italians.

The more conservative semi-official estimates put Count Ciano's Ethiopian death figures in half, placing the slain at 1,000. Count Ciano and his death-deaf (Continued on Page Two)

ADDIS ABABA Nov. 19.—Preceding Emperor Haile Selassie by short time, a huge caravan of news-starved reporters and picture-hungry cameramen streamed from Addis Ababa today in the first officially sponsored movement towards the vicinity of that region optimistically known as "the front."

The actual destination of today's trek is Dessye, which can be reached in two or three days by truck over incredibly difficult roads.

Dessye, however, is actually 250 miles from the Makale-Adowa, Assum front, and is equally distant from the Danakil front.

Base Camp

Dessye, however, is supposed to be the base camp for Minister of War Ras Moulogeta, and from this point the northern operations will be directed.

Most correspondents and camera men have already sent ahead mule caravans which are due to reach Dessye in another two days, presumably simultaneously with the trucks.

Twenty of the Emperor's trucks containing his personal effects left at the same time, and it is expected his majesty will follow shortly.

After a brief visit at Dessye, it is expected he will go south and inspect the Harar front.

ber of "Britain's sanctions camp" if oil supplies to Italy are cut off, and will be "treated as such," followed violent demonstrations in Rome against application of sanctions.

It was made while Mussolini, bating more than half a hundred nations in economic and financial warfare as a result of his Ethiopian campaign, called upon his lieutenants of the grand council to resist with economic weapons and, if necessary, by force of arms, the league drive to crush his aspirations in Africa.

After his stirring address, Mussolini received assurances from the grand council that they would support him to the limit.

Fascist officials demonstrated briefly at the Piazza Venezia when the grand council session broke up.

Mussolini Faces Task

Premier Mussolini and his lieutenants are now faced with the task of drafting a plan to enable Italy to become and remain virtually self-supporting. It was because of this that the grand council held its second session in 48 hours.

Regarding the warning to America, an official spokesman declared the Italian government is watching closely "an apparent move by the United States to classify oil as a war material."

It was pointed out sudden stoppage of oil supplies from America would seriously hamper the mechanized troops in Africa.

Repeating that if America included oil and scrap in the list of goods prohibited Italy, she would be regarded as participating in sanctions and would then be "subject to the same economic treatment dealt to other nations." The spokesman nevertheless expressed hope the United States would continue to "stay out of this affair."

Shensi divorce themselves from the Chinese government at Nanking and established the Pro-Japanese "autonomous" state the Japanese armies will march southward to effect the Japanese aims by force.

Peiping Calm

Peiping was extremely calm all day despite the ultimatum. It might have been an ominous silence. The rat-a-tat of Japanese machine-guns practiced beyond the east wall of the city was a day-long reminder to Peiping citizens of the presence of Japanese military strength all about them.

Mayor Chin Teh-Chun of Peiping addressed International News Service tonight that he would guarantee the safety of Americans and other foreign residents during the crisis.

However, beyond that, no one in high position dared to predict what would happen. It was possible the new state would be established bloodlessly, the Japanese attaining their goal merely with the threat of the army units now north of the great wall at Shanhaikuan.

On the other hand, certain anti-Japanese leaders of North China have announced they would bitterly fight any attempt by the Japanese to duplicate their Manchurian annexation program.

Some sources said refusal of Nanjing to allow establishment of the autonomous state would result in a suicidal civil war in which Japan would be ready to see that the "right side" won.

General Sung Cheh-Yuan, commander of the Chinese garrison at Peiping, a leader approved by the Japanese, was slated to become head of the Pro-Japanese state.

While Japanese quarters stated General Chiang Kai-Shek, Generalissimo of the Chinese armies, would "allow" the new state to be set up, certain Chinese leaders said General Chiang and his followers would oppose the move.

In this event a major military conflict might develop.

Major Challenges

One by one, with pointed illustrations and comments for each, the Chautauqua president outlined the five major challenges thusly:

First: The challenge of the rapidity of movement and communication. Second: The challenge of individual freedom. Third: The challenge to provide at least the minimum of necessities and comforts of life to all. Fourth: The challenge for the universal education and participation of all. Fifth: The challenge of leadership.

He spoke early of the three kinds of social and cultural life which the world has known, the primitive, the medieval and the modern, asserting afterward that "the difference in communication and transportation is the difference in the stages of civilization."

During the course of his address Dr. Bestor told of how "radio conditions a democracy" and he recalled how two men, and perhaps three, speaking over the radio and writing in a newspaper, caused millions of telegrams to deluge the office of United States senators and, from all appearances, to cause a United States senate vote to conform to their wishes. Dr. Bestor was not discussing the merits of the vote but rather the machinery by which modern democracies are controlled.

Under Jones' plan, the checks will be prepared by WPA officials estimating the wages due for spending payment of workers on WPA projects by "estimating" wages due and issuing paychecks two weeks after employment.

The new policy is designed to reduce the present payroll "lag" of four or five weeks to the fortnight period in which it was originally planned to issue paychecks and remove workers from the relief rolls. WPA project employees are carried on direct relief until they receive their first wages.

SANCTIONS BEGIN

MEMBERS of the League of Nations have started to apply economic sanctions to Italy. It is a decisive experiment, at least so far as the league is concerned.

For the first time that body has asserted to the full its authority under the covenant to attempt the punishment of an aggressor nation. In the case of Japan it contented itself to adopt the damaging Lytton report and to administer a mild rebuke without further action. Except that they followed the United States in refusing to recognize diplomatically the existence of Manchukuo, the members of the league did nothing to protect China from a great injustice. It is upon this fact that Italy mainly relies for escaping the full consequences of her attack upon Ethiopia.

But the argument that Italy has been discriminated against is not convincing. Her case must be judged upon its own merits. There is no question that she has been the aggressor in the case of a fellow member of the league.

She was warned repeatedly what the consequences would be. Great Britain in particular, which has taken the lead in the application of sanctions and thus has stiffened the attitude of the other powers, remonstrated against an attack on Ethiopia as long ago as last December. Mussolini may not have believed that the remonstrance would be followed by action; but at any rate he can not say he was not warned.

It is a grave decision which the league has taken. That Italy will retaliate has been made perfectly clear. There will be a measure of loss on all sides. Some members may be tempted to temporize or withdraw. Mussolini may embark upon a policy which will have serious results. None the less, the application of sanctions is all that could be done in the circumstances.

POWER OF THE PRESS

Reduction in the ratio of motor accidents to the number of motors driven about the highways is credited in large part to the efforts for the development of a purpose of safety which have been made by the newspaper press of the country, in the judgment of Sidney J. Williams, who is head of the division of the National Council of Safety which has charge of this particular phase of the problem.

It is only reasonable recognition of the fact that the newspaper press of the nation, daily and weekly, remains the most general and most available means of popular education and discussion of any matter of public interest. Nearly everybody in the nation reads some newspaper. Nearly everybody in the nation depends upon some newspaper, for the majority of his contacts with affairs of his community or his state, of the nation and of the world.

The greater part of individual action, even conversation is based on newspaper service. The newspaper press of the nation is the greatest service of communications among the 123,000,000 people in the United States. And if the national mind is to be stirred to greater interest in highway safety, the newspapers constitute the natural medium for reaching that mind and effecting the change.

SAFEGUARD OUR REPUBLIC

In an address directed against political attacks on our constitution, which is the chief safeguard of our republic, Colonel Robert R. McCormick, Chicago publisher, said:

"One state has passed a law making illegal the free exercise of religion and the Supreme Court of the United States has declared this law unconstitutional. Do you want the supreme court made powerless to invalidate another such law?

"One state has passed a law denying the right of freedom of speech and of the press, and the Supreme Court of the United States has declared this law unconstitutional. Do you want to take from the supreme court the power to invalidate another such law?

"It is in the constitution, set up by the people themselves, limiting the powers of government and preserving the rights of the citizens, that we Americans tower above the people of other countries.

"Where the people of other lands live under hereditary rulers or dictators who have usurped autocratic power by force, fraud and massacre, we live together under these written agreements made with each other which preserve the rights of the innocent from the machinations of the unscrupulous; those of the weak from the oppression of the strong; those of the minority from the prejudices and passions of the majority; the liberties of private citizens from the tyranny, abuse and robbery of those who wield the powers of government."

CHANCES OF A LEADING CANDIDATE

Scarcely a month goes by that does not see the timid rise of some new contender for the Republican presidential nomination. Hoover, Vandenberg, Dickinson, Knox, Borah, Theodore Roosevelt, Lowden, Landis—each takes a crack at the New Deal, sternly denies any intention of running, and sends out hopeful feelers.

It is a generally accepted belief in politics that the man who gets out in front too early is likely to be rewarded only with campaign bruises. Nevertheless, statistics favor the chances of the leading candidate.

American political history reveals that most presidential nominations have been agreed upon prior to the assembling of the nominating convention. It is the exception, rather than the rule, for the nominee to be selected by developments at the convention itself. This trend has generally held good not only for the party which was renominating an incumbent of the white house, but also for the party in opposition.

In 19 of the 34 national conventions of the two major parties since the Civil War, the respective nominees were chosen on the first ballot. In four other conventions, the nomination, although requiring from two to four ballots, was almost a foregone conclusion—Tilden in 1876, Cleveland in 1884, Hughes in 1916, F. D. Roosevelt in 1932. In only 11 of the 34 post-Civil War conventions was the final choice in considerable doubt after the first ballot had been taken.

Only nine of the 34 conventions did not nominate the candidate who stood first on the first ballot. In only three of these nine did the nomination go to the candidates who stood second or third on the first ballot. Hence it would seem that if a convention passes over the leading candidate, it is more likely to nominate a dark horse than one of the more prominent of the other candidates.

The Canada Treaty.
To Starve Italy.
Gorgeous Mr. Gugsa
$15,000,000,000 Bonds.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE TEXT of trade agreement between the United States and Canada is "released."

The President and Secretary Hull have approved it but cannot become law until Canada's Parliament consents. Under "extraordinary powers" given to President Roosevelt by Congress no approval by our legislators is necessary.

BUSINESS MEN will read this treaty carefully. Republicans hope they will find in it something that will frighten the American farmer back into the Republican fold in spite of AAA.

Senator Borah and Col. Frank Knox, discussed as Republican candidates for President, recall a reciprocity act passed in the Taft administration that cost Republicans their strength in the West.

Sunday at midnight the League's "sanctions" took effect intended as Mussolini, says "to isolate and suffocate Italy."

Since earliest Roman days, expansion has been the habit of people inhabiting the Italian peninsula and that expansion has benefited the world. The people of Rome started France and England from barbarism on the road to civilization.

FIFTY NATIONS are united in the effort to starve and frighten Italy. The pretext, quite hypocritical, is a desire to preserve the "liberties" of barbarous tribes in Ethiopia, that have never known liberty except freedom to murder and sell each other to Arab slave dealers.

League of Nations hypocrisy would be less unpleasant if the two nations that really are the league, England and France, had not each of them done exactly what they forbid Italy to do, and done it, in England's case multiplied by 100.

IT WILL take a good deal of starving and "suffocating" to make (Continued on Page Seven)

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

NOTHING DOING

In the reign of Emperor Nero, a Christian was condemned to lions. A healthy young lion was starved for two weeks, so that he would be in proper trim for his meal. At the appointed time he was released from his den and bounded eagerly toward the Christian. As he neared the Christian, the latter leaned forward and spoke a few words to the beast, which promptly stopped and then walked back to his den. The Emperor called the Christian before the imperial box.

"Tell me what you said to the lion, and I'll let you off," he said.

"Oh, it wasn't anything very much," said the Christian in a deprecatory tone. "I merely said 'Of course, you'll be expected to say a few words after dinner.'"

SMART HUMAN RACE

Since first the human race began Man has exalted the works of man and boasted any time or place The glory of the human race.

Sometimes I wonder is it so? How much or little do we know? If clever folks we truly are, Why can't we learn to drive a car?

We've had the motor thirty years! Still by the death list which appears In daily papers, boldly set, We haven't learned to drive it yet.

Will man no progress ever make From honking horn and squealing brake?

How long will he require to learn A safe and simple right-hand turn?

How long are papers to be filled With lists of all the maimed and killed?

Must we suppose the human race Will always be its own disgrace?

At times when of my fellow-kind To boasting I have grown inclined, Always some crumpled motor car Gives proof how slow to learn we are.

Sun sets tonight 4:41. Sun rises tomorrow 6:50.

A South Side kid broke into a bakery and ate seven pies. That boy had a lot of crust.

A friend just back from camping trip says he walked two miles every morning just for exercise, and the milk.

More than a quarter of a million dollars of the big old paper money we had some years ago has never been redeemed and is either in some socks or has been destroyed. That money looks sort of queer now and when people do get a look at some of it they think it's phoney. The new paper money saved a lot of paper but nobody noticed it.

LIFE'S LITTLE AGONIES "How long are you going to be gone?"

"Can't say."

"Well, approximately."

"I really don't know."

"You've no idea then just how long it will take you?"

"Not the least."

"Well, all right, I guess I can be back by then, too."

"Splendid, don't forget I'll be looking for you."

"Sure thing. I'll be there."

If you are going to get in on making a contribution to the Will Roger Memorial Fund you had better get busy. After it is all over and you did not help you surely will not be able to say we didn't try to drive you to it.

Oodles—How did you catch that bad cold?

Noodles—I cod id by siddin dear a widow.

Oodles—She must have been very icy.

Maybe it is because doctors disagree as to whether one should stuff or starve a cold that some folks try to flood it.

Aunt Louise—So you intend to be a soldier, do you, Henry? Don't you know you may be killed?

Henry—Killed? Who by?

Aunt Louise—The enemy.

Henry—Then I'll be the enemy.

Gertrude—What kind of music suits you best, Henry?

Henry—Well, I'm not very particular. I like it either rare or well done.

The good people of Pulaski are giving a chicken dinner on next Thursday night. The money taken in will be given to the Jameson Memorial hospital campaign fund.

And on the side the fine folks there are going to hand in canned goods, etc. You are invited to attend.

Teacher—A boy paid $18.25 for a bicycle and sold it for $17.15. Did he gain or lose by the bargain and how much?

Charles—He lost on the dollars but gained on the cents.

Szabo—Is your son mercenary?

Sewzuk—No, I can't say he is. He doesn't seem to love money enough to work for it.

THIS IS ABOUT RIGHT Did this ever happen before? A friend of ours was driving from Kalamazoo to South Haven. All once he saw an automobile turned bottom side up right ahead of him in the middle of the road. He slammed on the brakes and, covered with goose pimples because he expected to find a mangled form, he ran to the wreck. When he reached it a man stood calmly by its side and greatly to his surprise our friend saw that he was perfectly sober. Our friend said to the man: "Are you hurt?" "No," said the stranger, "I'm not hurt, but I'm a darned fool, if that helps you any in sizing up this situation. I had plenty of room, nobody was crowding me, but I was driving altogether too fast, because I didn't have a blazed thing to do when I got to my destination. My mind wasn't where it should have been. Anyway,

They are adaptable to any type of interior decoration and now are procurable in various colors, sizes and designs. They may be correctly used with any form of decoration from the earliest period furniture to that of the very latest motif.

They are useful in the decoration of a car as though the driver is the only one on the road, such egotism is frequently fatal.

But unfortunately, in many instances, the innocent and law-abiding motorist pays the supreme penalty for this type of folly. It is automation at its worst.

"No one can deny that the present world, with all its faults, is the finest, the most comfortable and luxurious one that human beings have ever known. It is also the safest from the standpoints of mass control of diseases and personal medical progress. Consequently, to drive an automobile so carelessly that one is even injured or killed, or injures or kills someone else, is unmitigated carelessness.

"The personal consideration of these plain facts and their application for the next 12 months by the motorizing public literally could save many thousands of lives. To reduce automation is a worthy objective. Why not cooperate?"

LaGuardia Attacks "Red Tape" For PWA

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Sharp criticism of "red tape" methods in administration of federal public works projects was expressed today by Mayor La Guardia of New York.

Reporting to the third annual conference of mayors as chairman of its committee on relief, La Guardia asserted the PWA program now was from four to five months behind schedule.

While praising "civilized" ways, Gugsa, adopting "civilized" ways, brought "calling cards" and hands one proudly to each visitor.

He is a fearless person. Gugsa has machine gunners, and gunmen around him only because his father-in-law, Haile Selassie, has offered a large reward for his person, delivered "in any condition," alive, dead or half alive.

GUGSA, adopting "civilized" ways, brought "calling cards" and hands one proudly to each visitor.

THE AMERICAN Banker's Association reveals the interesting fact that our banks hold FIFTEEN THOUSAND MILLION dollars worth of government bonds, in figures $15,000,000,000.

Well might a most important official of the government say:

"Inflation? We have it now, biggest ever seen, frozen in the banks; wait until it breaks loose."

Fifteen thousand million dollars worth of "inflation bonds" are worth exactly the paper they are written on, plus the government's promise to pay in greenbacks, no gold. They are worth exactly as much as greenbacks, and have exactly the same security back of them the government promise.

If the government had printed new money, saving the interest in fifteen thousand millions of bonds, that money and the government's credit would both be more valuable.

SECRETARY ICKES announces eight hundred and thirty-five million dollars appropriated for public building throughout the country. Four thousand "projects" are involved.

That much money would build 400,000 new good houses for American families that need them. Perhaps they would be more valuable than the smaller number of "projects."

Government might profitably investigate a group of workingmen's houses that England is building in Liverpool, with "curved exteriors to admit maximum sunshine innumerable balconies for airing the babies under the mother's supervision, great interior courts where older children can play safely."

Now Ethiopia's king is expected to start a real fight with nearly 1,000,000 Ethiopian warriors, he himself leading.

Perhaps the League of Nations has indicated to Haile Selassie that it is about time for him to start something.

Would Change Name Of River

Suggests That Allegheny River Be Changed To Ohio River

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Nov. 19.—S. S. Holbrook, director of the Historical Society of Western Pennsylvania, took issue today with a new movement to change the name of the Allegheny river to the Ohio, the stream into which it empties here.

"While explaining the society could not take any definite position in such matters, Director Holbrook, in an unofficial and exclusive opinion to International News Service, said he did not see how the change would help the river commercially or historically."

"The name of the Allegheny river is pretty well embedded in history," he said, "and I don't see any sense in changing it to the Ohio."

Change Suggested

The change suggested by Captain Donald T. Wright, editor of the Waterways Journal, was endorsed by Captain O. S. Barrett of Cincinnati, O., newly elected president of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association.

Commenting upon the opinion that a great portion of the general public is unaware that the Mississippi river, through the navigable Allegheny tributary, directly penetrates New York, Holbrook said the Allegheny and the course of its flow through Olean, N. Y., is appreciably known.

He admitted the Allegheny was originally known as the Ohio soon after its discovery by French explorers, but said the name was changed to its present identity, believed of Indian origin, soon after the region was taken over by the English.

County Commissioners have been notified that the Breakneck bridge over Jones' run in Slippery Rock township, is quite shaky under the weight of heavy trucks. This is one of the few remaining covered bridges in the county. Bert Dinsmore, who repairs county bridges, says he worked on this one 38 years ago. The county commissioners had a project underway last spring for building a new bridge. They could have had all the abutment work done as a PWA project and it would not have cost the county anything, but when the proposition was put up to the grand jury it was turned down flat.

The commissioners estimated that they could have had the bridge replaced at that time at a total expense to the county of about $6500. It may be that it will again be taken up when the new board of county commissioners go in. It might still be possible to have the abutment work done as a work project.

WASHINGTON WATCHES EFFECT OF SANCTIONS

Biggest Issue Is View Of U.S.

Outcome Of League Effort
Is Fraught With Much
Danger

FACE SAVING PLAY
MAY AVERT PERIL

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—How effective will the league of nations' sanctions prove against Italy?

This question assumed paramount importance at the State Department as the league has launched its virtual world economic war against Italy.

Momentous Issue

American diplomatic officials considered it the most momentous issue confronting the world today, transcending in importance all domestic problems.

The answer to that question was seen as involving not only the fate of the world's most renowned modern dictator, the future of the league of nations, and the prestige of the British empire as a world power, but the very structure of modern civilization.

If the league sanctions should prove fully effective and be maintained for any length of time, the downfall of Benito Mussolini was seen likely, with the danger that, in going under, he might plunge Europe into another war that would wreck modern civilization.

If the league sanctions should fail to halt Mussolini and he should succeed in conquering Ethiopia despite them, both the league of nations and the British empire were seen as being dealt severe blows.

Ray Of Hope

The one ray of hope was that a triple face-saving diplomatic play, from Italy-to-Britain-to-the-league, might be arranged in the near future which would give Mussolini enough in Ethiopia to save his face at home, Britain enough to save its prestige as a world power, and the league enough to save its prestige as the world's peace maker.

The view prevailed that such a diplomatic dicker will be arranged within the next three or four months unless Great Britain is out to "get" Benito Mussolini.

And that was another question which had the state department pondering. This government has good reason to wonder whether Britain is out to bring about the

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending at 3:30 p.m. November 18, five arrests on charges as follows: drunkenness 4 and drunkenness and disorderly conduct 1.

Prothonotary of clerks R. M. Campbell has filed with city council an official count of the votes for city office at the last election, which is as follows: Mayor: McGrath, 9880; Hauffer, 5,826; McKee, 611; Butz 6 and Mayne, 1. Council: Flink, 6,569; Davies, 5,883; McCormick, 6,066; Rice, 8,522; Hoyland, 2,599; Strayer, 118; Kahrer, 87; and Spens, 884; Hahn, 5,210; and Rigby, 173. Sunday movies, yes, 8,161; no, 8,270 and bond issue sentiment vote, yes, 3,670 and no, 9,365.

City officials have received an intimation that the WPA soon will start building a stone retaining wall at the Municipal golf clubhouse.

Mayor-elect Charles McGrath and Councilmen-elect Myron Rice and J. Leon Finn will be invited to attend the parley between the city, school and county officials Thursday night at North street school relative to the city taking over the Carnegie auditorium, playground and Rosena furnace site. No doubt their attitude toward exemption of taxes will be ascertained.

G. R. Throop, city engineer, has told council that the street department does not have sufficient room to house material. Yesterday was payday for city employees. Officials receive their wages once monthly. . . . One garbage truck was in the shop last week for repairs.

Cruising operations of all city police cars for the present year did not cost much more than a policeman's salary. Police are paid now at the rate of $115.00 a month. The cars operated 82,202 miles, used 7,548 gallons of gasoline and 495 quarts of oil. Figuring gasoline at say 17 cents a gallon and oil at 25 cents a quart, the cost would be approximately $1,441.93.

Amusement Tax Check Is Made

All Violators Of Amusement Tax Will Be Severely Dealt With (International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Nov. 19.—A state-wide drive to halt violations of the amusement tax was underway throughout Pennsylvania today.

The checkup on all violators was begun simultaneously in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia to compel operators of amusements to comply with the tax law. Investigators plan to pay particular attention to operators who have taken out amusement permits but have failed to make tax returns.

In such cases, it was pointed out, the Department of Revenue under the law has the right to examine books and records of the alleged violator and assess the tax with an additional 10 per cent penalty, from the effective date of the act, July 22.

John C. Morlock, chief of the bureau of stamp and amusement taxes, is heading the drive in Philadelphia, while Richard G. Brewer is directing the work in Pittsburgh. Investigators in the Philadelphia area also will cover Delaware and Montgomery counties.

A penalty of not less than $100 or more than $300, or imprisonment of not more than six months, or both, is provided by the act. Prosecutions will follow, it was announced, in cases where returns have been filed and investigation reveals fraud.

Rev. Thomas Pollard led the deacons. A representative from the Townsmen, an organization of local young men, formerly known as the Phalanx, laid the cause of the Christmas seal sale, conducted by the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society, before the ministers and the association enthusiastically endorsed the movement.

Dr. E. A. Crooks introduced the new pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, Rev. Chester R. Yeates, to the body of clergymen; Dr. G. S. Bennett introduced Rabbi Norman Diamond, new leader of Temple Israel; and Rev. R. B. Withers introduced Rev. C. H. Hagedorn, new pastor of the Manufacturing E. church, and Rev. J. E. Iams, new pastor of the Savannah and Wesley M. church.

The meeting was closed by prayer and benediction by Dr. L. S. Cass, of Grove City.

The next meeting will be on December 2, with Rev. Charles H. Hauger as the speaker. The subject will be "Is Sterilization Justified?"

First By Corporation Here Owning To Death Of Man Who Secured Loan

The first foreclosure proceeding brought by the Home Owners Loan Corporation in Lawrence county was started this morning when preliminary papers were filed at the probate court's office. The circumstances surrounding the case are somewhat unusual, according to Attorney H. A. Wilkinson.

On April 16, 1934, a mortgage was given to the Home Owners Loan Corporation by John T. L. Williams for $3,209.75. About one month later, or on May 18, 1934, Mr. Williams died. His heirs, it is claimed, failed to keep up the payments on the loan, notwithstanding the corporation has been very lenient in in-

The amount of the loan with costs is now $3,513.80. The defendants, in addition to the mortgagor, named in the suit are Blanche V. Williams, Mary E. Loyd, Ed. V. Williams, John R. Williams and Brinley I. Williams, heirs of the late John T. L. Williams.

The party proceeds will be shared by the Jameson Memorial and New Castle hospitals and the charity fund of the local Elks lodge.

Arrangements for the city-wide affair, perhaps the largest social fair here in years, were being hurried to completion today as the party date drew nearer.

Scout Commissioner Ralph F. Davis notified the lodge that a picked corps of 12 Boy Scouts will stand ready to assist each and all on the party night, and one of the party chairmen said arrangements to seat 300 at bingo games in the lodge basement were already completed.

Indications are that the party will crowd the Elks home to capacity.

GIRL SCOUTS

KEYSTONE TROOP

Keystone Troop No. 1 met at the city hall Saturday evening. The meeting was opened by a compass game and then the scouts went to patrol corners. Interest groups were formed. Some of the girls worked on health, flag and observation tests. Martha McClusky passed her flag and compass work. Elizabeth Porter passed her cooking, second class and judging tests. The meeting was closed by a song and taps. Scribe, Virginia Jones.

TROOP NO. 10

In St. Paul's Lutheran church on Monday evening, another meeting of Troop No. 10 was conducted. After patrol corners the girls went into interest groups. The tenderfoot scouts are getting ready to pass their test. The girls in the hostess group plan for a party which will be held November 25. Scribe, Marian Patterson.

BLUERONNET TROOP

Bluebonnet Troop No. 4 met Monday evening at the Third U. P. church. A new game about various countries was played. Games in signalling also interested the girls. Some of the older scouts devoted a part of the time to their dress-making.

The new girls are doing their tenderfoot work. Songs were enjoyed and the meeting closed with taps. Scribe, Cecelia Turner.

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 19.—Dr. Donald V. Summerville, Oil City dentist, who claims he was struck by a bicycle ridden by a messenger boy, today sought $50,000 damages from the Postal Telegraph Company in a suit filed in the federal court.

The suit filed by attorney Ben Brasley, stated that on Christmas eve last, Dr. Summerville was struck by the bicycle operated by a messenger boy employed by the company. The suit alleged that the dentist was thrown against parked automobile and severely injured.

Shaffer Case Nearing Jury

New Wilmington Bank Suit On Notes Being Heard In Federal Court

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 19.—Suit brought in Federal Court here by the First National Bank of New Wilmington, Pa., R. H. Wilson, receiver, against A. A. Shaffer, also of New Wilmington, to recover payment with interest or three notes which was expected to be placed in the hands of the jury today.

William Cohen, New Castle, counsel for the plaintiff, attempted to establish through testimony that the notes in question, amounting to $1,967.95, were negotiated in a legal manner with the co-signatures of the defendant's sons, W. A. Shaffer, H. A. Shaffer and R. J. Shaffer, all of New Wilmington.

Defense Counsel Clarence Patterson, however, contended that Shaffer's name did not appear on the notes and therefore they were null and void.

Federal Judge Nelson McVicar presided.

John C. Morlock, chief of the bureau of stamp and amusement taxes, is heading the drive in Philadelphia, while Richard G. Brewer is directing the work in Pittsburgh.

Safety Pedal Is Suggested For All Autos

Would Keep Auto From Getting Out Of Control
On Highways

(International News Service)

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Nov. 19.—At least 10 persons can be saved from "sudden death" on American highways each day by a minor change in auto construction. Dr. Yandell Henderson, professor of applied physiology at Yale university today told the National Academy of Sciences meeting here at the university of Virginia.

In ten per cent of all fatal motor accidents, according to Dr. Henderson, the excuse is that "the car went out of control," although it is frequently found that steering wheel, motor and brakes were in good condition.

"In reality," the eminent scientist asserted, "it is the motorist who goes out of control."

Safety Pedal

Dr. Henderson suggested that autos be equipped with a "safety pedal" for the left foot, to counteract the pressure of the right foot on the accelerator." He said a motorist, facing an accident, would press hard on this pedal, just as instinctively as he now presses on the accelerator, though he does not realize he is doing so.

Any motorist, no matter how experienced, who is suddenly and severely jolted, Dr. Henderson explained, instantly reacts with a "self-righting reflex" to steady himself in his seat, and in so doing thrust both feet forward and presses down hard.

With daily auto deaths in the United States around 100, Dr. Henderson's idea is to "cash in" on this human nature to save human lives.

The "proposed" safety pedal," he said, should be low and scarcely noticeable, so it won't distract the motorist, but wide enough not to be missed by the left foot during an instinctive "pre-accident" downward thrust of both feet.

Heavy pressure on it should either counter-act the pressure of the right foot on the accelerator and allow the throttle to close, or it should turn another butterfly valve in the carburetor and shut off the power," said his statement.

"Then, under an extensor thrust, the car should slow down instead of accelerating out of control."

Controversy Over Goal Post Return Is Growing Warmer

Would Make Field Goals Easier If Posts Were On Goal Line

Twenty-Five Big Teams Have Lost Games By One Point This Year

By LEON SHLOSS
International News Service Sports Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The bursting pros and ricochetting cons of the torrid battle over desirability—or otherwise—of the point-after-touchdown having thus far provisionally—or otherwise—missed the burrowing statistician, the underlying facts of the war to date are hereby presented:

Start your own arguments! Write your own letters to the editor! Here we go!

Out of 1,116 football games played on the regular schedules of 137 of the largest colleges, only 50 hinged on the point after touchdown; of this 50, twenty-five were won by the margin of successful kick for the point, while 25 the games might have been thus decided.

Loss by One Point

Of the 25 institutions which were victimized by the accuracy of some fellow's toe—no college was caught in the swindle twice—only six were major gridiron powers, to wit:

N. Y. U. nipped Georgetown, 7-6;

Vanderbilt nosed out Georgia Tech, 14-13; Tennessee got the duke over Mississippi by the same score;

Yale disappointed Penn, 7-6; Penn lost to Princeton by the same score;

U. C. L. A. relieved Stanford of any Rose Bowl worries, also by 7-6.

Swinging over to the other bat-tlefront, where armies of football fans are contesting the practicability of returning the goal posts to the playing field, thus enhancing the utility of the field goal, the barrage is respectfully laid down:

It has been said in some millions of well-chosen words that a field goal from the five-yard line re-

Born Joe Louis Barrow He Quickly Earns Sensational Names

MAX BAER CALLS HIM "PLAIN POISON"

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—His mother called him Joseph Louis Barrow, and let it go at that.

Joseph Louis Barrow it remained for some 20 years, but within the past year or so the young Mr. Barrow from Detroit has been presented with more names than will be found on a press agent's mailing list.

When he decided to throw his talented gloves into the professional prize-ring little more than a year ago, Mr. Barrow became Joe Louis for the sake of convenience.

Soon after those self-same gloves began to drap bits of pugilistic humanity all over the rings of the country, divers sports observers signified their awakening interest by coining such mild descriptive synonyms as The Brown Bomber, Dusky Downer, Detroit Destroyer, and the like.

That was only the beginning.

The sports scribes really got down to naming names when Joe's sleep-inducing mitts introduced the bulk that was Primo Carnera to a speaking acquaintance with the rosin on the floor of the Yankee Stadium ring.

After that epic contest, the sports pages began to refer to The Dark Angel, Demon Dynamite, The Shadow and Black Marble, when carrying paragraphs relative to the glove-slinger from the Motor City.

"Alabama Anthracite"

When King Levinsky was sent to the cleaners in less than a round at Chicago, too recognized geniuses in the art of picturesque nomenclature deigned to take note of the Moody Marvel, and following that one-round kavos the gentlemen in the press row went to town with such alliterative gems as Detroit Alabama Anthracite, Dark Doom, Tawny Tiger and Lightning Lasher, touching the heights of titular abandon with The Man Without Emotion, Dead Pan Joe, Black Panther and Shufflin' Joe.

Considering that to his mother Joe is just "My Baby" and that to his newly acquired wife he is The Best Man, some inkling of the length to which this thing has gone is the latest.

It does not end there. Just practice on such delightful mouthings as "The King of Kings," "The Conquering Lion," or "Whataman Joe" within earshot of any Harleman, and you'll find yourself in the midst of a spirited argument as to the amount of "cobra poison," "death juice," and "snake dance" Louis carries in either his right or left hand. "Brown Embalmer" is the latest.

The list could be continued indefinitely, but suffice it to say that even a Ring Lardner would have difficulty in bettering this Runyon-esque jewel dropped from the swollen lips of one Mr. Max Baer just before he departed these parts for points distant.

I don't know about any "Conquering Lions," but tell 'em all for me—that guy is just plain Poison."

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 19.—Following ten rounds of toe-to-toe slugging, Norman Quares, the light-haired collegian from Norfolk, Va., today held a decision over Freddy Miller, Cincinnati, featherweight champion of the world.

Because both lads entered the ring weighing more than the featherweight limit of 126 pounds, the title did not change hands.

McNAIR FRAMES CHECK FOR $1,500

REFUSES TO CASH CHECK GIVEN HIM FOR HIS STAGE WORK

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 19.—So he took the $1500 and framed it."

And that day was exactly what Mayor William N. McNair of Pittsburgh had done with the $1500 check he got for being a master of ceremonies in a theater here. He had it countersunk on a board in the wall in his office and framed it.

"I never cash it," the mayor told friends who wondered what was to become of his battle to end pollution of the Monongahela river. It was to get funds to hire attorneys that he went on the stage.

"I don't want anybody going around and saying, well, McNair got his, anyway," the mayor explained.

"So there is it and anybody who wants to see it can come up here."

The check will stay there as long as I'm mayor. If council doesn't give me the money, I'll spend my own."
